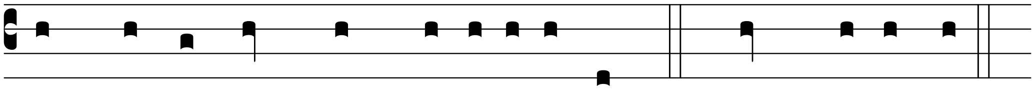
JAmes, the apostle of our Lord Jesus Christ : brother of blessed John the evangelist was visiting all Judaea and Samaria : showing everything foretold by the prophets to be fulfilled in our Lord Jesus Christ. And it happened that a certain magician, Hermogenes : sent his student, named Philetus, to him. Who, when he had come to James, along with a number of Pharisees : made effort to assert : that Jesus Christ the Nazarene was not the true Son of God : of whom he was calling himself an apostle.



But thou, O Lord, have mercy upon us. ℟. Thanks be to God.

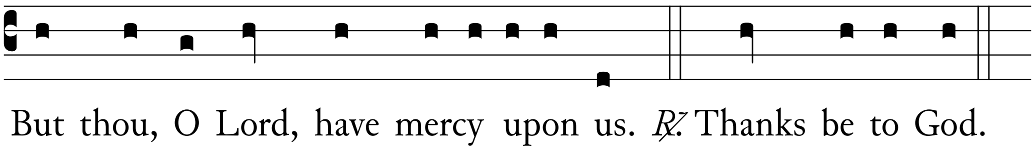
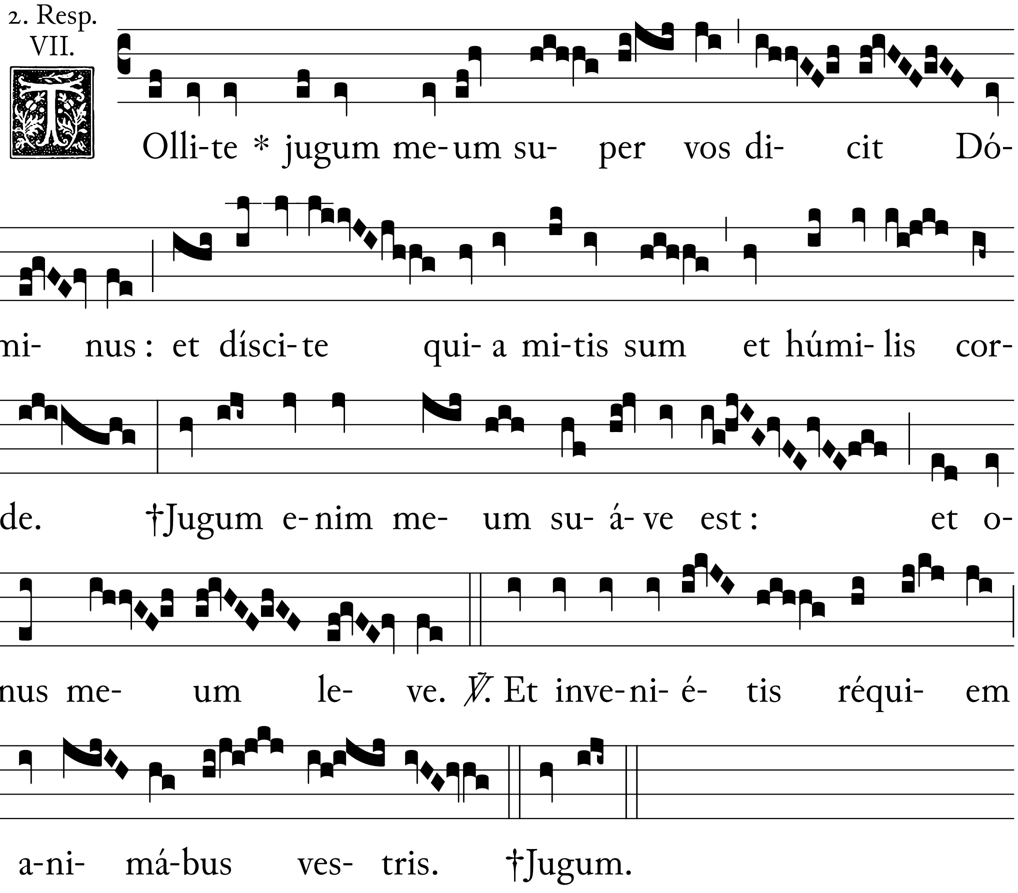
Lesson ij.

JAmes, acting confidently in the Holy Ghost : negated all his assertions, revealing to them that according to the divine scriptures this was the true Son of God. Returning to Hermogenes, Philetus said to him, Of James, who asserts himself to be the servant and apostle of Jesus Christ : know that thou canst overcome him thyself. For in his name we have seen him casting out devils, giving light to the blind, cleansing lepers, and even my dearest friends allege to have seen James himself raising the dead. Therefore, let my counsel be pleasing to thee, and come to him and ask for thyself a pardon from him. And know that I shall return to him myself and beg : that I may be merited to be his disciple. And hearing this, Hermogenes was filled with jealousy : bound Philetus : and said, Let us see if thy James can unbind thee from these chains !

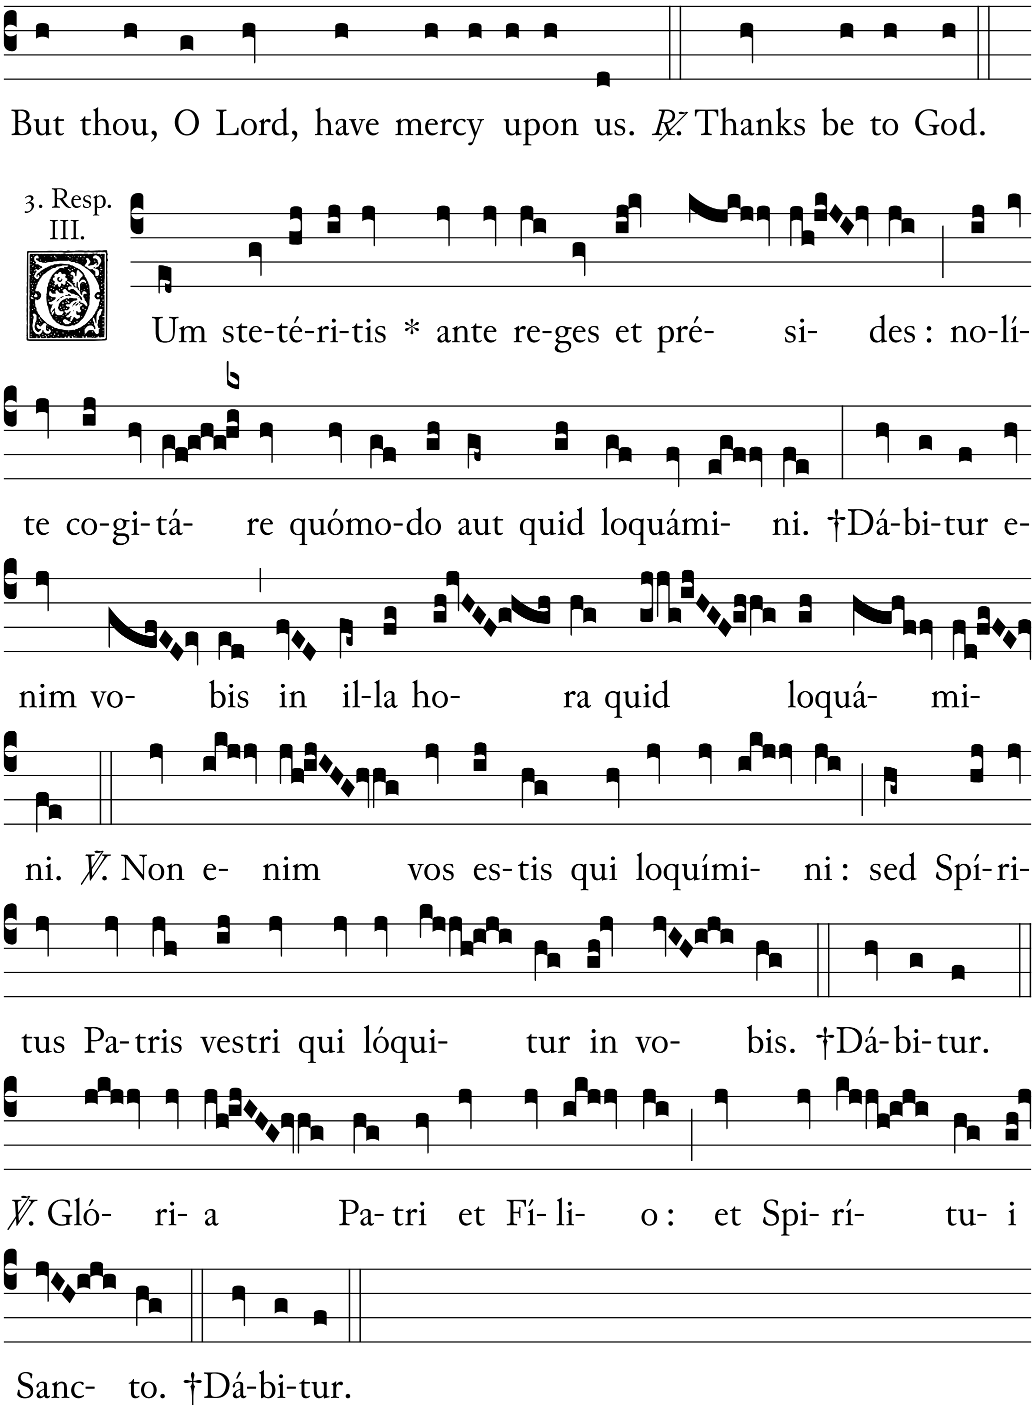


2. Resp. VII.



Lesson iij.

THen Philetus, through his servant, sent word to James. Indeed, at once the apostle sent his facecloth to him. And the moment the one who had brought the facecloth to him touched him with it, he, freed from the magician's chains : came running to James, mocking the magician's sorceries. But Hermogenes, with his magic tricks, conjured up devils : and instructed them, saying, Go and bring this James to me at once and also Philetus, my student. However, the devils coming to where James was praying : they proclaimed, O James, apostle of God, Hermogenes hath sent us : that we might lead thee and Philetus to him. But as we approached : an angel of God bound us with fiery chains and we are tormented.



But thou, O Lord, have mercy upon us. ℟. Thanks be to God.

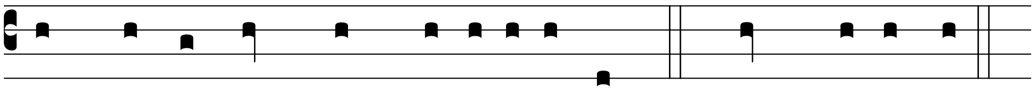
AND James saith to the devils which Hermogenes sent, In the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost, may the angel of God set you free : thus that returning to Hermogenes, you should not injure him, but lead him here bound. Who, after they departed, bound him with ropes, hands behind the back : and led him to James. James said to them : Behold Philetus standeth before you : why do you not hold him ? The devils say to him : We cannot even hold an ant which is in thy bedroom. After this, blessed James said to Philetus : that thou may know this school of Christ to be to return good for evil : since Hermogenes tried to bring thee, bound by devils, to himself : thou shall permit him, bound by the same devils, to go free. When Philetus had done this : the apostle said to Hermogenes, Go free : because it is not of our teaching : that anyone unwilling should be converted.



But thou, O Lord, have mercy upon us. ℟. Thanks be to God.

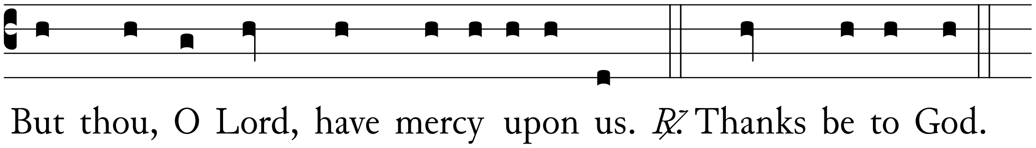
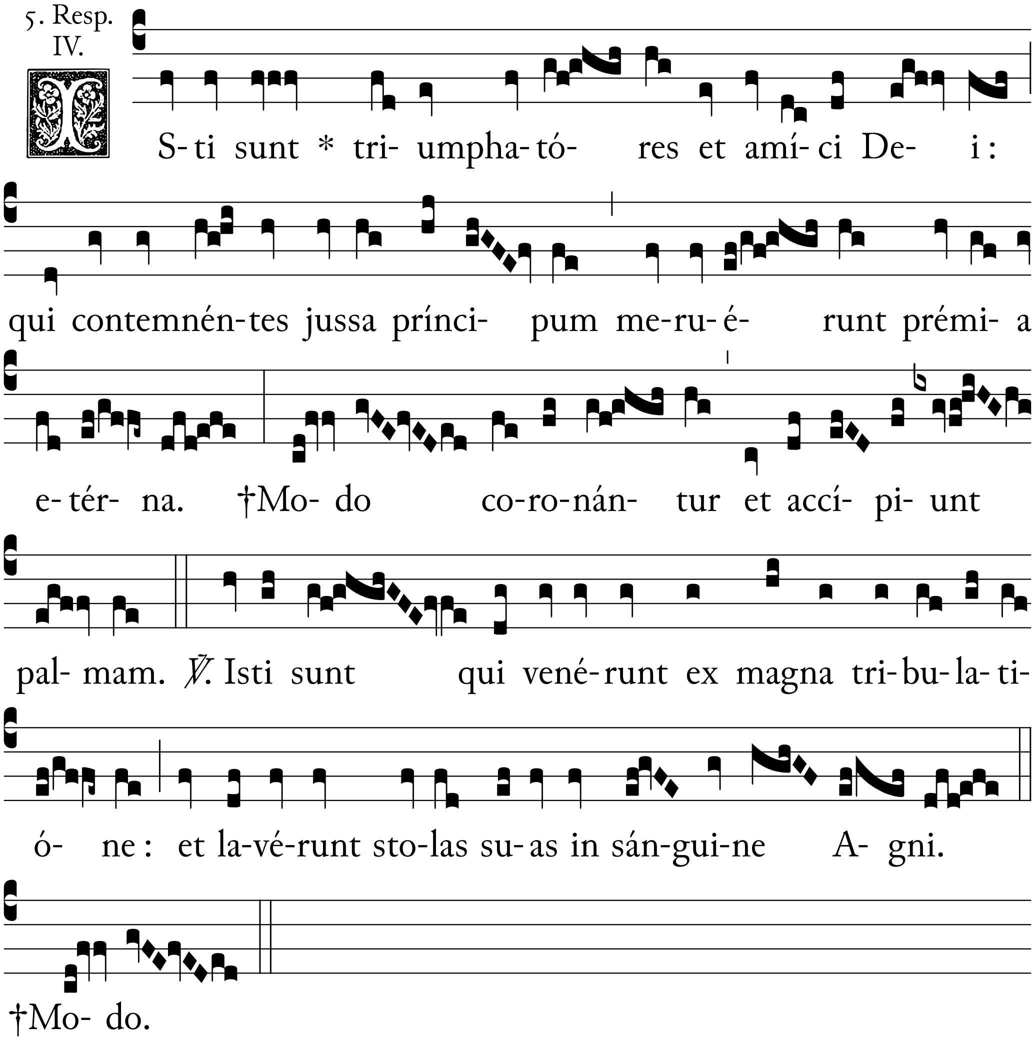
Lesson v.

ANd Hermogenes said to James, I know the wrath of the devils : they will capture me and kill me : lest thou will have helped me. The apostle saith to him, Take my walking stick and go with it safely wherever thou will have wished. After this, with praying to James : Hermogenes took hold thus to be perfect in the fear of God : that through him, God would also have brought about mighty works. And after a few days, the high priest Abiathar, seeing Hermogenes and so many people to have believed through the preaching of the apostle of the Lord : filled with jealousy of riches, incited a dreadful riot : thus that Josias, scribe of the Pharisees, placed a rope around James' neck : and led him to the praetor of Herod : who ordered him to be beheaded. And as he was being led : a certain paralytic cried out to him, O Apostle of Christ : free me from these sufferings. Whence James, In his name, through the love of which I am led to decapitation : arise healthy. Who arose at once : and began to praise the name of Christ.



5. Resp. IV.



Lesson vj.

JOsias seeing this : which the apostle had done : threw himself at the feet of the apostle saying, I beseech thee, O apostle of God : that thou may grant me pardon and make me a partaker of the name of Christ. Then Abiathar took hold of Josias : and said to him, If thou withdrawest not from James : thou will be beheaded with him. Josias responded, Thou art cursed : and all thy gods. Then Abiathar ordered his mouth to be beaten with fists : and obtained from Herod : that he would be beheaded with James. But having arrived at the place of his passion : the apostle imbued Josias with water : and he kissed him : and blessed him : and thus, having been made martyrs in the faith of Christ at the same time, together they went up to Christ : to whom be honour and glory, forever and ever. Amen.

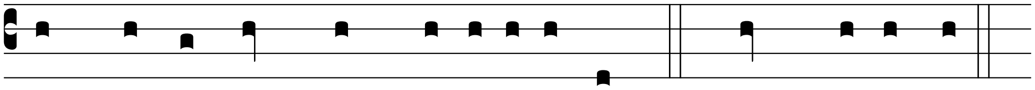
AT At that time : Then came to him the mother of Zebedee's children with her sons : worshipping him and desiring a certain thing of him. And that which followeth.

A homily of Haymo of Halberstadt.

THe divine lessons adhere to themselves : and frequently one dependeth upon the other : that sometimes the beginnings of the following are more easily understood from consideration of the preceding. We easily notice that in this lesson : if we briefly attend to the one above. For the Gospel reading recordeth above : And Jesus going up to Jerusalem took the twelve disciples apart in the way, and said unto them, Behold, we go up to Jerusalem. And at once the Gospel adjoins, saying, Then came to him the mother of Zebedee's children. The mother of Zebedee's children was the maternal aunt of the Saviour : the mother, evidently, of James and John.



But thou, O Lord, have mercy upon us. ℟. Thanks be to God.

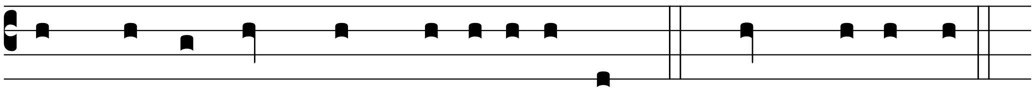
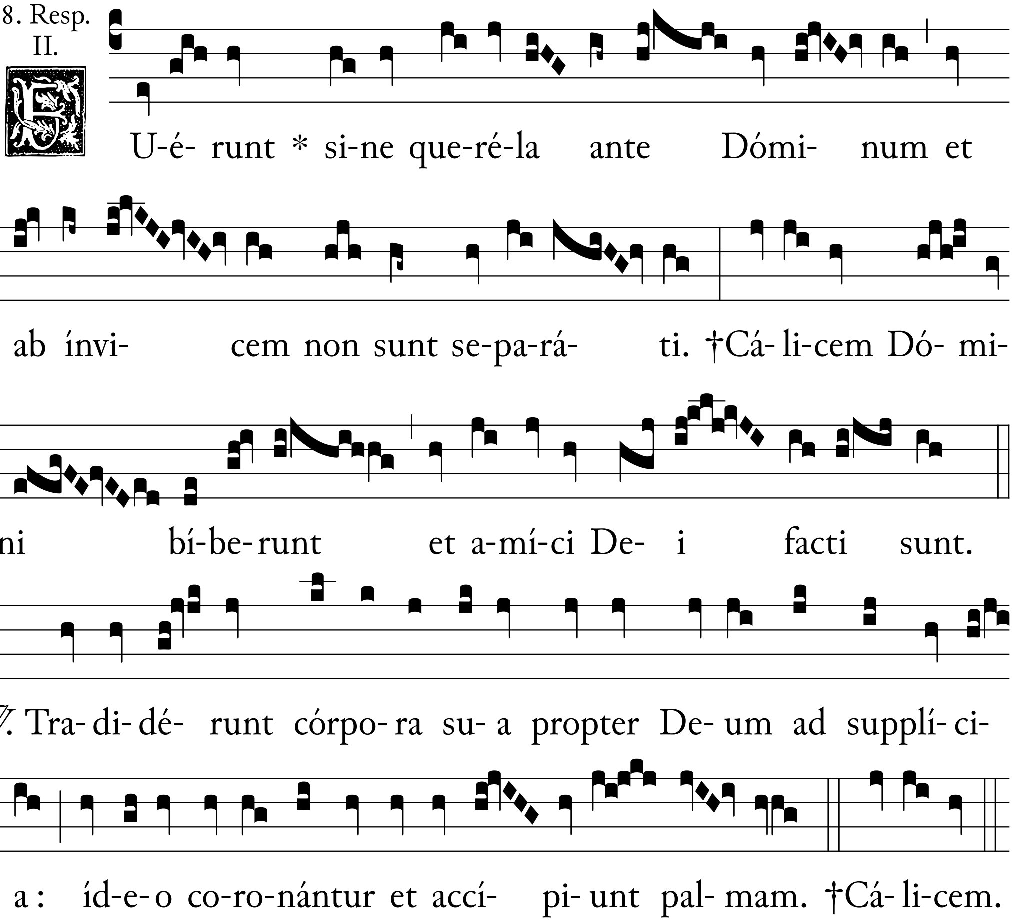
Lesson viij.

For this reason, beloved, the woman is inspired to beg of worthiness for her sons : because after all the Lord had said, And the third day I shall rise again. For the woman believed that the Lord was going to reign on earth in the flesh after his resurrection : and was going to distribute earthly authority to his chosen. Inspired, therefore, by this womanly greed, she approached the Lord : asking the Lord : that he might give her sons power to sit : one on the right : and the other on the left. And Jesus answering, said, Ye know not what ye ask. The mother had indeed asked : but the Lord rebuked his disciples : because he knew by the power of his divinity that the request which the mother had made, had come from the urging of her sons.



But thou, O Lord, have mercy upon us. ℟. Thanks be to God.

8. Resp. II.



Lesson ix.

THe Lord asketh them, if they could drink the cup : which he was about to drink, that is, if they could bear the same suffering : that he was about to suffer for them. In which words it is plainly revealed : that first the suffering is endured and then the kingdom is reached. Ye shall drink of my cup, saith the Lord, that is, ye shall endure my suffering. Indeed, concerning James, whose festival we celebrate today : there is no doubt that he himself had drank of the cup of the Lord, because on this same day he was beheaded by Herod and his martyrdom was consummated. But to sit on my right hand, and on my left : is not mine to give to you, that is, I do not give this by human power. In other words : It is not mine to give to you, that is, to the haughty and overproud : but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared of my Father : namely, to the humble and meek. Of this, therefore, by the merits and prayers of the blessed apostle James may the divine Grace look upon us : as though we are otherwise, that is, that we may appear as such in his judgment not as we are now : but as we arose from the baptismal font : that we may receive not what we deserve : but that for which we pray, that is, the life which lasteth forever and ever.

Symbolum Athanasii.

Quicúnque vult salvus esse : ante ómnia opus est, ut téneat cathõlicam fidem.

2. Quam nisi quisque íntegram, inviolatámque serváverit : absque dúbio in etẽrnum períbit.

3. Fides autem cathólica hec est : unum Deum in Trinitáte, et Trinitátem in Unitátẽ venerémur.

4. Neque confundéntes persónas : neque substánciũm separántes.

5. Alia est enim persóna Patris : ália Fílii, ália Spĩritus Sancti.

6. Sed Patris et Fílii et Spíritus Sancti una est divínitas : equális glória, coetẽrna majéstas.

7. Qualis Pater talis Fílius : talis Spĩritus Sanctus.

8. Increátus Pater increátus Fílius : increátus Spĩritu Sanctus.

9. Imménsus Pater imménsus Fílius : imménsus Spĩritus Sanctus.

10. Etérnus Pater etérnus Fílius : etérnus Spĩritus Sanctus.

11. Et tamen non tres etérni : sed ũnus etérnus.

12. Sicut non tres increáti nec tres imménsi : sed unus increátus, et ũnus imménsus.

13. Simíliter omnípotens Pater omnípotens Fílius : omnípotens Spĩritus Sanctus.

14. Et tamen non tres omnipoténtes : sed ũnus omnípotens.

15. Ita Deus Pater Deus Fílius : Deus Spĩritus Sanctus.

16. Et tamen non tres Dii : sed ũnus est Deus.

17. Ita Dóminus Pater Dóminus Fílius : Dóminus Spĩritus Sanctus.

18. Et tamen non tres Dómini : sed ūnus est Dóminus.

19. Quia sicut sigillátim unamquámque persónam Deum ac Dóminum confitéri : Christiána veritāte compéllimur.

20. Ita tres Deos aut Dóminos dícere : cathólica religiónē prohibémur.

21. Pater a nullo est factus : nec creātus nec génitus.

22. Fílius a Patre solo est : non factus nec creātus, sed génitus.

23. Spíritus Sanctus a Patre et Fílio : non factus nec creátus nec génitūs, sed procédens.

24. Unus ergo Pater non tres Patres, unus Fílius non tres Fílii : unus Spíritus Sanctus, non tres Spīritus Sanctus.

25. Et in hac Trinitáte nichil prius aut postérius : nichil mājus aut minus.

26. Sed tote tres persóne coetérne sibi sunt : ēt coequáles.

27. Ita ut per ómnia sicut jam supradíctum est : et Unitas in Trinitáte, et Trínitas in Unitátē veneránda sit.

28. Qui vult ergo salvus esse : ita de Trinītáte séntiat.

29. Sed necessárium est ad etérnam salútem : ut incarnatiónem quoque Dómini nostri Jesu Christi, fidēliter credat.

30. Est ergo fides recta, ut credámus et confiteámur : quia Dóminus noster Jesus Christus Dei Fílius Dēus et homo est.

31. Deus est ex substáncia Patris ante sécula génitus : et homo est ex substáncia matris in sēculo natus.

32. Perféctus Deus, perféctus homo : ex ánima rationáli et humána cārne subsístens.

33. Equális Patri secúndum divinitátem : minor Patre secúndum hūmanitátem.

34. Qui licet Deus sit et homo : non duo tamen, sed ūnus est Christus.

35. Unus autem non conversióne divinitátis in carnem : sed assumptióne humanitātis in Deum.

36. Unus omníno non confusióne substáncie : sed unitāte persóne.

37. Nam sicut ánima rationális et caro unus est homo : ita Deus et homo ūnus est Christus.

38. Qui passus est pro salúte nostra descéndit ad ínferos : tértia die resurrēxit a mórtuis.

39. Ascéndit ad celos sedet ad déxteram Dei Patris omnipoténtis : inde ventúrus est judicáre vīvos et mórtuos.

40. Ad cujus advéntum omnes hómines resúrgere habent cum corpóribus suis : et redditúri sunt de factis própriīs ratiónem.

41. Et qui bona egérunt ibunt in vitam etérnam : qui vero mala in īgnem etérnum.

42. Hec est fides cathólica : quam nisi quisque fidéliter firmitérque credíderit, salvus ẽsse non póterit.

A lesson from the Epistle to the Ephesians. ij. 19-22.

BRethren and sistren : Now therefore ye are no more strangers and foreigners, but fellow-citizens with the saints, and of the household of God : and are built upon the foundation of the Apostles and Prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner-stone : in whom all the building, fitly framed together, groweth unto an holy temple in the Lord : in whom ye also are builded together for an habitation of God through the Spirit.

AT that time : came to him the mother of Zebedee's children with her sons, worshipping him, and desiring a certain thing of him. And he said unto her, What wilt thou ? She saith unto him, Grant that these my two sons may sit, the one on thy right hand, and the other on the left, in thy kingdom. But Jesus answered and said, Ye know not what ye ask. Are ye able to drink of the cup that I shall drink of, and to be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with ? They say unto him, We are able. And he saith unto them, Ye shall drink indeed of my cup, and be baptized with the baptism that I am baptized with : but to sit on my right hand, and on my left, is not mine to give : but it shall be given to them for whom it is prepared of my Father.
